Welcome

This document contains important information about the counseling services and business policies. Please read it carefully and write down any questions you have so we can discuss them when we meet. When you sign this document, it will represent an agreement between us. However, the 'therapist-client' relationship does not exist until after the initial assessment is completed and we have decided to move ahead, as evidenced by your signature on this form.

CREDENTIALS: Ingela Edwards has a Master's Degree in Counseling and Development from Texas Woman's University. Ingela is a Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC), National Certified counselor (NCC), Certified Clinical Partner Specialist (CCPS) and a certified Sexual Recovery Therapist (SRT).

COUNSELING SERVICES: Counseling focuses on developing ways to address your particular concerns about your life. In the first sessions, your needs and goals will be identified, as well as the most appropriate treatment options. If your therapist cannot provide the appropriate service to address your needs, you may be referred to other sources of treatment. While your therapist will ask about many areas of your life, the focus of the therapy will be on working toward your specific goals. To get the most out of therapy, you must take an active role. This involves discussing your concerns openly, completing any assignments and providing feedback to your therapist about the progress of the therapy.

Often, personal growth includes facing issues that cause sadness, sorrow, anxiety or pain. Your therapist will support you as you make choices and changes in your life. Therapy can facilitate self-awareness, better understanding of relationships, and achievement of personal goals, although there are no guarantees of what results you may experience. It is possible that therapy may not resolve your problem, or that therapy alone may not be sufficient. Should this be the case, the therapist will explore alternative plans with you.

If there is current or prior involvement with any other professional (doctor, therapist, counselor, probation officer, etc.), you may be asked to sign a Release to Exchange Information form that allows your therapist to contact them. You will also complete a questionnaire at the beginning of your therapy. This allows your therapist to provide you the best possible care.

MEETINGS: The standard session is 45-50 minutes. It is recommended that counseling sessions are scheduled on a weekly basis. Sessions may be longer and we may meet more or less frequently. Once an appointment time is scheduled, you will be expected to pay for it unless you provide 24 hours advance notice of cancellation. A necessary element of the therapy process is the client's commitment to attend sessions regularly. You may stop therapy at any time, but the therapist needs to be informed before your last session.

PROFESSIONAL FEES: The current fee for a standard (45-50minute) session is $150.00. The fee for longer or shorter sessions is prorated based on the standard session fee. In addition to weekly appointments, the same hourly fee is charged for other professional services, although the hourly cost will be broken down for periods of less than one hour. Other services include report writing, telephone conversations lasting longer than 6 minutes, attendance at meetings with other professionals you have authorized, preparation of records or treatment summaries, copying your file (30c per page with a $2.00 minimum that must be paid in advance), and the time spent performing any other professional service. If you become involved in legal proceedings that require the participation of your therapist, you will be expected to pay for the professional time of your therapist even if your therapist is called to testify by another party. Your therapist will not agree to court appearances at your request or other legal involvements unless the matter has been thoroughly discussed and both you and your therapist agree that such involvement is within the range of competence of your therapist and will not interfere with the treatment relationship. Because of the difficulty of legal involvement, there is a $350 per hour charge for travel, wait time, telephone consultation with attorneys and research in preparation for testimony with a 4 hour minimum to be paid in advance for preparation and attendance at any legal proceeding.

BILLING & PAYMENTS: You will be expected to pay for each session at the time of service, unless we agree otherwise. Payment schedules for other professional services will be agreed to when they are requested. You may pay with cash, credit card (VISA, Discover and MasterCard), or check. Checks returned for non-sufficient funds will incur a $30 service fee in addition to fees assessed by the bank. This fee and the value of the check must be paid in cash or by credit card before another session can be scheduled, and checks may then no longer be accepted. When your course of therapy ends, your account must be paid in full. Payments by credit cards will be in accord with the pre-authorization for health care form provided by this office.

MISSED APPOINTMENTS: For any scheduled appointments, please give at least 24-hour advance notice of the cancellation. You will be charged for missed appointments and cancellations unless you cancel with no less than 24 hours of the appointment, unless waived on a case-by-case basis. The fee for missed appointments and late cancellations (less than 24 hours notice) is the full fee as described above. With the signature below, you will authorize the therapist, Ingela Edwards, LPC, NCC, SRT, CCPS to charge credit cards) for late cancellation and missed session appointment fees when incurred. Client understands the appointment policies of the office and assumes responsibility for payment of fees related to late cancellations or missed appointments as described above. Such charges are payable immediately and will be automatically charged to your credit card.

INSURANCE: Ingela Edwards is an in-network provider for Blue Cross Blue Shield (PPO plans) and can submit claims on your behalf. Ingela Edwards is an out of network provider with other plans. It is your responsibility to verify your coverage for insurance reimbursement and to file your own claims if applicable.

EMERGENCIES: Your therapist is not available 24 hours a day and does not provide formal emergency services. In the event of an emergency or crisis between scheduled appointments, you may call the Contact Counseling & Crisis 24-Hour Line at 972-233-2233 (adults) or 972-233-8336 (teens) or the Suicide Crisis Center 24-Hour Line at 214-828-1000 (all ages), 911 or go to the nearest emergency room for immediate care.

CONTACTING YOUR THERAPIST: The best way to contact your therapist is by telephone, although your therapist may not be immediately available. Your therapist will make every effort to return your call within the same day, with the exception of after hours, weekends and holidays. For simple rescheduling issues, e-mail is often the fastest, most convenient method for communication. If you choose to communicate via email, remember that the internet is not a secure medium for transmitting confidential information. Your therapist will not accept friend requests from clients on social media.

PROFESSIONAL RECORDS: Your therapist is required to keep records of your counseling sessions for a period of 5 years after the date of your last session. These records include dates of treatment, case notes, correspondence, progress notes and billing information.

MINORS: If you are under 18, please be aware that the law may provide your parents the right to examine your treatment records. It is my policy to request a parental agreement to give up access to your records. If they agree, I will provide them with only general information about our work together, unless I feel there is a high risk that you will seriously harm yourself or someone else.

CONFIDENTIALITY*:* The information shared by you or your family members in this session and any future sessions will remain confidential with some exceptions, including the following:

1. You have given written authorization to release information.
2. A court orders records or therapist testimony.
3. Your therapist has reason to believe that there is a serious risk of imminent danger to yourself or to someone else.
4. Your therapist has reason to believe or suspect that a child, disabled person, or elderly person has been or may be abused or neglected.
5. Known or suspected sexual exploitation of a client by a past therapist
6. In the case of minors, the parent or legal guardian has a right to receive information about the counseling their minor child is receiving, and non-custodial parents or others may have rights to information in accordance with court orders.
7. Communications with any third-party payers necessary for payment of fees or as may be necessary to collect an outstanding balance on your account.

In the case of multiple clients in a session, such as family or couples therapy, each individual in the counseling unit must provide written permission for any release of information. Please note that with couples and family therapy the couple or the family is the client (i.e., the counseling unit), not the individuals involved. Your therapist practices a no-secrets policy. Confidentiality does not apply among members when one member is seen in an individual session or contacts the therapist outside of the therapy session to share information. Your therapist reserves the right to disclose information revealed by one partner or family member in an individual session to the other partner or family members as deemed appropriate or necessary to support overall treatment progress and goals. In group counseling, only the therapist is bound by legal confidentiality guidelines. Although the importance of confidentiality is heavily stressed to group members, and group members must agree to this policy, your therapist cannot guarantee that each member will honor this.

Your therapist may also find it helpful to consult with other professionals about your case. If so, your identity will not be revealed. Your therapist is affiliated with McKinney Counseling and Recovery and may communicate with its' treatment team in order to better coordinate your care.

COMMITTMENT TO COUNSELING: A necessary element of the counseling process is your commitment to attend sessions regularly. You may stop the counseling at any time, but please inform your therapist before your last session. Attending sessions under the influence of alcohol or drugs or in possession of a weapon is not allowed.

GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE: It is important to your therapist that you are satisfied with your therapy experience. If at any time, for any reason, you are dissatisfied with the services, please let your therapist know. If the issue remains unresolved, you may report your complaint to The Texas State Board of Examiners of Professional Counselors, Complaints Management and Investigative Section, P.O Box 141369, Austin, TX 78714-1369 or phone (800)942-5540.
